A better design is to separate the two responsibilities into two completely different classes. This design moves the computational portions of Rectangle into the GeometricRectangle class.
Now changes made to the way rectangles are rendered cannot affect the ComputationalGeometryApplication.